

Nirekha Peak 6189m

Introduction

Nirekha Peak Climbing is newly explored and opened for climbing. An exceptional mountain adventure for those who seek a new explorer and wish to be completely close to the untouched beauty of nature himalayas. Close to the Tibetan border and hidden among the well-known giants of Mt. Everest, Mt. Cho Oyu, and Cholatse. Our expedition begins from Kathmandu with a flight to Lukla 2860m "Gateway to Everest" and "Entrance to the Land of Sherpa" begins trekking from there and trekking through the famous 'Khumbu' region The cultural heartland of "The Famous Sherpas". We will reach the base camp of Nirekha Peak after crossing through the famous Cho-La Pass at 5368 m. Nirikha is located in the same chain as the Lobuche summits, just E of the Cho La Col (not to be confused with the famous Cho-La pass 5368m that is only a few hundred meters away). The normal ascent to the Nirekha Peak is a great and - depending on the conditions-difficult climb, at difficulty AD+/D-. Only experienced climbers should attempt this route, The ascent is mostly in ice and snow, though it is partially saved with fixed ropes. The summit consists of two summit pyramids. It is unclear which one is higher. The north summit is easier but requires to cross a difficult crevasse, while the south summit requires one pitch in steep 50° ice. From the summit of Nirekha Peak, we will have the magnificent views of the greatest himalayan range of Mt. Everest 8848m, Mt. Nuptse 7861m, Mt. Lhotse 8516m, Mt. Mt. Pumori 7161m, Ama Dablam 6812m, Cholatse 6440m, Tawache 6542m and other surrounding Himalayas ranges.
